Homecoming, Parents' Day Set Oct. 2

KEYSER AT NIGHT . . . The lights of "home" beckon Potomac State College alumni once again as plans are put into motion for the annual Homecoming-Parents' Day celebration for 1982 scheduled for Saturday, October 2.

Former students are being offered a chance to renew friendships, reminisce with faculty and alumni, and to see the changes which have occurred on campus.

Reunions are being planned for the Classes of 1932 and 1957 and several other groups have also made inquiry.

The day's activities will begin with registration, coffee hour, and visitation in the Student Union, followed by lunch at a place of your choice. The traditional football game will see the Catamounts meeting Hudson Valley Community College of Troy, N.Y., in a match scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. A campus reception following the game will be held at 4 p.m.

A social hour at 6 p.m. will precede the home-coming banquet at the Potomac Motel at 7 p.m. Highlight of that event will be presentation of the Alumni Achievement and Distinguished Service Awards.

Your special invitation and reservation form are enclosed with this copy of your Newsletter. Deadline for reservations is September 25.

This night-time photo was taken by Raymond Burner '74 of Keyser from a vantage place atop Queen's Point. A long exposure was used to capture the beauty of the area, illuminated by street lamps and lights of moving cars. Burner and his wife, the former Vicki Ginn, now operate Jimmie's Pizza Shop on New Creek Drive.

Jack Gillooly, Dean Handlan To Be Honored

John F. (Jack) Gillooly '40, executive director of the Orlando, Florida, International Airport, and James T. Handlan, professor emeritus of biology and former academic dean at Potomac State College, have been named recipients of the two alumni awards to be presented at the Homecoming Banquet on October 2.

Gillooly will become the seventh recipient of the Alumni Achievement Award and Dean Handlan has been chosen for the Distinguished Service Award which is being presented for the eighth time.

Established by the Alumni Association in 1975, the Alumni Achievement Award is made annually to an alumnus of the college who has distinguished himself in his career through exceptional accomplishment, as well as having made contributions to civic and humanitarian causes.

In announcing this year's award, the selection committee noted that Gillooly, a retired U.S. Navy captain, has had a long and distinguished career with that branch of the service. He rendered outstanding service as

159 Students Are Graduated In May, Dr. Gee Speaks

Dr. E. Gordon Gee, president of West Virginia University, was speaker at the 79th annual commencement exercises at Potomac State College on May 9 when 159 students were graduated.

A total of 107 received associate in arts degrees, 51 associate in applied science degrees, and one received a certificate.

Dr. Gee compared the graduating students to artists building, designing, and composing their lives, and spoke of what he called the "unfinished symphony of human life."

Two New Scholarships Established, Honor Coach Parrish, Mrs. Dayton

Two new memorial scholarship funds have been established at Potomac State College of West Virginia University by alumnus Sidney H. Harris '32, and Associate Professor Emeritus Ervin L. (Ikey) Dayton '24.

The awards, being administered by the Potomac State College Foundation, honor the late Coach George F. Parrish, a former member of the faculty, who died in 1971, and Mrs. Agnes McGuffie Dayton, the wife of Prof. Dayton, who died Jan. 6.

The Parrish-Harris Scholarship is the second grant to be funded by Harris who in 1971 set up a fund in memory of the late Dean Frank Mauzy, who taught at Potomac State from 1922-36, as well as a cash prize of $50 given annually to the student with the highest scholastic average in history. Harris, a former businessman in Pittsburgh, Pa., now resides in Bal Harbour, Fla.

Parrish, a resident of Charleston, W.Va., at the time of his death on Sept. 22, 1971, had been the executive secretary of the West Virginia Railroad Association and its legislative lobbyist since 1938.

He served Potomac State as athletic director as well as coach of football and basketball for 11 years from 1922-33. During that time he also played center position with the Keyser Collegians, an independent basketball team.

Parrish achieved an enviable career in athletics and politics. Two daughters also attended Potomac State: Mrs. Agnes Popp '42 of Roanoke, Va., and Mrs. Margaret Carey '48, of Charleston.

Anonymous Donor Establishes Award For Top Student

A new award has been established at Potomac State College by an alumnus who wishes to remain anonymous. It will be known as the Outstanding Student Award and will be given each spring at the Recognition Day Convocation.

This year's award, a cash prize of $100, went to a graduating student, Miss Melissa A. Gee, a pre-veterinary science major of Trout. A member of Sigma Phi Omega Honor Society, she also served as president of the Sophomore Class, was a member of Student Government, was secretary of the Agriculture Club, served on Student Life and Institutional Research Committees, and played intramural volleyball.

Criteria for the award, as established by an ad hoc faculty committee are as follows: The student must be a full-time sophomore with a 3.7 or better average for the first three semesters of college work with no failing grades and carry a minimum of 14 hours each semester.

The student must have at least two leadership and/or service roles on campus and deportment must be above reproach.

The selection committee, appointed yearly by the Executive Dean, will narrow the number of candidates to five and then conduct personal interviews before making a final decision.

Two Professors At PSC Granted Emeritus Status

Two professors at Potomac State College have been granted emeritus status by the West Virginia Board of Regents, according to Dr. James L. McBee, Jr., executive dean.

Named to the honor were Elizabeth P. Hanlin, professor of home economics, and Dr. Alan H. Paine, professor and coordinator of mathematics. Both retired in June after completing 25 and 28 years of service, respectively.

Hanlin, twice named Outstanding Teacher at Potomac State College, is an officer or member of several organizations, among them the WVU Home Economics Association, the Potomac State College Foundation, the Mineral County Vocational-Technical Center and Cooperative Extension Service for the county. She also is a member of the executive committee of the Potomac Valley Sheltered Workshop, a former president of the Northeastern Regional Health Planning Agency and first vice-president of Delta Kappa Gamma, educational honorary for women.

A native of Mt. Storm, she has taught church school for more than 30 years and conducted many church services in the area. She has served as Bible moderator for 15 years and is the leader of a Monday evening

HONORED AT SPRING BANQUET . . . The Potomac State College Social Club held its annual spring banquet in April and honored several college employees. From left, Elizabeth P. Hanlin, professor of home economics, 25 years of service and retirement; Harry R. Smith, associate professor of business administration and assistant dean for business affairs, who left the campus recently to accept employment in Washington, D.C.; Miss June O. Wilson, member of the dining hall staff for 12 years, retirement; Dr. Alan H. Paine, professor of mathematics, retirement after 28 years at the college; and Virginia E. Johnson, professor of mathematics, 25 years of service at the college.

Toastmaster was Thelma O'Connor, president of the Social Club. Testimonials for the honorees were given by Dr. Allen Murphy, Stan Daw, Betty Jo Howard, and Dr. Paine. Brief remarks were also made by Executive Dean James L. McBee, Jr.

Later in the school year the college announced the retirement of two others, Dewey V. (Junior) Rotruck and John Stewart, both of the maintenance staff, who worked for 36 and 10 years respectively.

Three New Faculty Appointments, Several Staff Changes Announced

Three new faculty appointments and several new members of the staff have been announced by Dr. James L. McBee, Jr., executive dean of the college.

New faculty include Dr. John J. Bosley, visiting assistant professor of psychology; Timothy C. Swyter, visiting instructor in mathematics, and Charles E. Spencer, instructor in journalism and coordinator of communications. Both Bosley and Swyter have appointments for one year only.

Dr. Bosley is a graduate of Keyser High School and prayer circle and Bible-study group at the Keyser Presbyterian church. She will continue to teach part-time at the college.

Paine, a native of Biddleford, Maine, completed his doctoral work at Columbia University. He is member of several organizations, including the West Virginia Council of Mathematics Teachers, Mathematical Associates of America, the West Virginia Academy of Science, and Phi Delta Kappa education honorary.

He was president of the Keyser Kiwanis Club in 1963 and has served as secretary from 1957-62 and from 1964 to the present. He also is active in the Presbyterian Church where he has served as Sunday School superintendent, elder, and chairman and secretary of the Board of Deacons.

Potomac State College '54. He earned a bachelor of arts degree in psychology in 1956 from West Virginia University where he was graduated with high honors. He completed his doctorate in experimental psychology at the Johns Hopkins University in 1962.

He was previously employed with JRB Associates of McLean, VA, as a staff scientist. From 1962 to 1973 he was a social psychologist for SRI International in Menlo Park, Calif. He has taught at the Ohio State University and at Northern Virginia Community College.

Dr. Bosley was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national liberal arts honorary and holds membership in Sigma XI and AAAS. He has published many articles in his field.

Timothy Swyter of Oakland, Md., is a graduate of Gaithersburg (Md.) High School and attended Montgomery College in Rockville, Md., for two years prior to transferring to Frostburg State College, from which he graduated in 1974 magna cum laude with a bachelor of science in mathematics. He earned the master of arts degree in the same field from West Virginia University in 1975.

Swyter taught at Garrett Community College in McHenry, Md., from 1976 to 1981. He has also taught at Frostburg State and served as a graduate assistant at WVU.

Joining the staff in the area of journalism and communications is Charles E. Spencer of Westover, W.Va. Since August of 1980 he has been a reporter and weekend wire editor for the "Dominion Post" daily in Morgantown. He had previously been on the staff of the "Raleigh Register" in Beckley and was copy editor for Marshall University's newspaper when a student there.

He holds both a bachelor's and a master's degree in journalism from Marshall. He was a graduate teaching assistant in the English Department at WVU from August of 1978 to May 1980. He is currently completing course work there for a second master's degree in English.

Swyter is replacing Dr. Alan H. Paine, professor emeritus of mathematics, who retired in May after 28 years of service.

Bosley and Spencer are replacements for Dr. Lynn Harris and Ms. Janice Czarniecki, respectively.

Returning to the chemistry department after a year's leave of absence is Henry Falkowski, who was working on his doctorate during the past year at WVU.

With the discontinuance of the military science program, CPT Alan Kimball and SGT James Walpole have left campus.

Changing positions is John Raupach, formerly head resident of Memorial Hall, who has now become a security officer.

Taking Raupach's place in the dormitory will be Martin Smelik of Clarksburg. Ms. Palma A.

15-Year-Old Son Of Dr. Bullard Killed In Crash

James Bullard, the 15-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Todd H. Bullard, Bethany, was fatally injured in a car crash July 17. Dr. Bullard had served Potomac State College as its president from 1964-1970.

Fragmented reports indicate that a Chevrolet convertible being driven by a 17-year-old went over an embankment on the Bethany Pike and that James Bullard and another boy, Matthew Staffileno, of Wellsburg, died as a result of injuries sustained in the crash.

The two were taken to Ohio Valley Medical Center, Wheeling. Authorities said one of the boys was trapped under the car and a tow truck had to remove the convertible from atop the boy. The driver and another passenger were treated for cuts and scratches and released from the hospital.

Dr. and Mrs. Bullard were enroute to New York for a vacation when stopped by police and informed of the crash at 4 a.m. on Saturday about 3½ hours after the mishap.

Friends were received by the Bullard family at their Pendleton Heights home in Bethany.

In addition to his parents, Todd H. and Ella (Rickey) Bullard, he is survived by a brother, three sisters, his maternal grandmother, and his paternal grandparents.

A memorial scholarship fund in young Bullard's name has been established at Bethany College where his father is now the president.

Foundation Board Meets And Elects Its New Officers

The Potomac State College Foundation, Inc., elected officers and introduced new board members at its quarterly meeting February 9.

Reelected to serve for 1982 were Glen A. Ryan '50, president; C. Edwin Jordan, Sr. '32, vice-president; and Prof. Kenneth F. Haines '50, secretary. A new member of the board, Grover A. Huggins of Fort Ashby, was named treasurer.

New board members in addition to Huggins are David Trenton '35, Petersburg, and Judge C. Reeves Taylor '54, Keyser.

Other directors include Dr. Joseph Cavallaro '49, Ernest E. Church, Nelson Hagerty, Prof. Nancy Hockensmith, Virgil Hull '51, Mrs. Carl Peters '32, Jennings R. Stickley '57, James E. Taylor '42, and Walter Tetrick.

Ex officio board members are Mrs. Robert T. Coffman '36, director of alumni affairs, and Dr. James L. McBee, Jr., executive dean of the college.

Devic of Keyser will become head resident in Reynolds Hall, replacing Brenda Batt, who resigned in May.

Mary F. Shipper Wed April 3 To Martinsburg Man

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Mary Fravel Shipper to John Griffin Byrer on April 3 at 11 a.m. in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church, Martinsburg.

The Rev. Dr. Richard R. Slider, minister of the church, and the Rev. Mr. J. Andrew Gullick Jr., pastor of the Keyser Presbyterian Church, performed the double ring ceremony before family and a few close friends.

Amy Beall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Beall Jr. was the bride's only attendant. W. Scott Armentrout, of Baltimore, nephew of the groom, was best man. Preceding the ceremony organ music was presented by Mrs. Florence Noud.

Mrs. Byrer is the daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. James Shipper, of Martinsburg, and was former librarian at Potomac State College. It was in her honor that the campus library was named.

Mr. Byrer is the son of the late Atty. and Mrs. Harry H. Byrer Sr. He was formerly editor-publisher of the Martinsburg News and print shop.

The Byrers are residing at 1600 West King Street in Martinsburg.

Two On Faculty Given Promotions, Two Get Tenure

Two members of the faculty have received promotions and two others have been granted tenure according to an announcement by Dr. James L. McBee, Jr., executive dean.

Dr. Robert W. Naylor has been promoted from associate professor to full professor of chemistry. Advanced from instructor to assistant professor is Don S. Starcher, horticulture. Naylor came to Potomac State in 1972 while Starcher joined the staff in 1978.

John C. Stone, assistant professor of business administration, and Sandra J. Elmore, assistant professor of physical education, were both granted tenure. Prof. Stone came to the college in 1972, and Prof. Elmore, who is also head women's basketball coach, was hired in 1976.

ROTC Program Phased Out At Potomac State

The ROTC program at Potomac State College has been phased out this year at the request of the U.S. Army which has changed its criteria and does not plan to have the military training at two-year colleges in the future.

Many young men participated in the ROTC program since its beginning at Potomac State in the fall of 1952 as a satellite of the WVU unit and some achieved high honors in the military ranks both on the battlefield and in command positions.

To Receive 1982 Alumni Awards

John F. (Jack) Gillooly

commanding officer of the aircraft carrier USS WASP and as commander of the Orlando (FLA.) Naval Training Center.

A native of Clarksburg, he attended West Virginia University after leaving Potomac State and was graduated from the United States Naval Academy during World War II. During that time he was a member of two navy football teams. He later received a master's degree from Stanford (CA) University.

As executive director, Gillooly's responsibilities include not only the recently opened $300 million dollar Orlando International Airport, billed as the "Airport of the Twenty-First Century," but also the operations and management of the 1225 acre Orlando Tradeport and the general aviation facility, Herndon Municipal Airport, of which he was formerly deputy director.

Prior to beginning a career in airport management, he served in the United States Navy for over 30 years and is an experienced naval aviator.

He is a member of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity, several aviation associations, and the Florida Council of International Development. He chaired the Governor's Conference on World Trade held in Orlando in 1979. He has also served for a number of years as a member of the Governor's Tourism Advisory Committee.

In choosing Prof. Handlan for the honor, the selection committee noted that during his tenure at Potomac State he had given basic preparation to hundreds of students for their careers as doctors, dentists, veterinarians, medical technologists, physical therapists, and nurses. The care and devotion which he gave to educating those students is manifest not only in their achievements but also in the fact that they visit him, write him, and always inquire about him. A constant supporter of the Alumni Association, he was particularly concerned and helpful during his stint as academic dean.

Dean James T. Handlan

Prof. Handlan is a native of Wheeling and was educated in the public schools there. He attended West Virginia

University where he received both his bachelor's and master's degrees in biology and was

Dr. Whitehill, Philadelphia Attorney Make Vintage Wine In West Virginia

West-Whitehill Winery, Ltd., of Keyser, has announced that its first vintage wine is now available at grocery stores and restaurants in eastern West Virginia.

The firm was founded in July 1981 by Dr. Charles D. Whitehill, Keyser, chairman of the Division of Arts and Humanities at Potomac State College, and Stephen D. West, Philadelphia attorney, who is the husband of Lucy Fisher West, daughter of the late John Fisher and Mrs. Fisher of the community of Fisher in Hardy County.

West first planted French-American grapes in Fisher in 1973. These are the first known wine grapes planted in the state for many decades. During the past 10 years, West has continued to experiment with the development of wine grapes and is encouraged that the warm, dry climate of eastern West Virginia is particularly suitable for the varieties now planted in this part of the state.

Dr. Whitehill has developed considerable expertise as a wine maker utilizing the unique qualities of the French-American wine grape under the tutelage of Dr. Hamilton Mowbray, a well-known vintner located in Westminster, Md.

In 1981, Dr. Whitehill and Mr. West joined forces to form West-Whitehill Winery with the goal of producing premium wine from West Virginia grapes. They acquired a federal permit and their first grape crush was in the fall of 1981 producing 800 gallons of wine.

At the present time they have available on the market a West Virginia Aureole which is a semi-dry light white wine and Highland Red, which is a dry bordeaux-type red wine. They also plan to release a semi-sweet rose later this fall.

McBee, a native of Philippi, became executive dean at Potomac State College in 1978.

Members of NCC 106 are trained to assist the Chief of Naval Operations and his staff in a command-control-communications role in time of national emergency. The unit is charged with providing professionals to augment active duty Navy counterparts during a crisis.
